The Director's Note...

"Lord, you have been our dwelling place in all generations. Before the mountains were brought forth, or ever you had formed the earth and the world, from everlasting to everlasting you are God...The years of our life are seventy, or even by reason of strength eighty; yet their span is but toil and trouble; they are soon gone, and we fly away... So teach us to number our days that we may get a heart of wisdom." Psalm 90:1, 2, 10 & 12

I always think of these verses when a dear friend goes home to be with the Lord. It reminds me that none of us will live here on earth forever, and that we do not know how long we will be here. Seventy is a good amount of years, and eighty, if we have the strength, seems even better, but, life never seems long enough. Darrell Poe lived 75 years, which is good by biblical standards, yet it still seems too short. I believe Darrell numbered his days and God gave him a heart of wisdom, and I say this because he loved God, loved others, and served them both. The years of our lives may soon be gone, but what we do with those lives can last forever. Use your life wisely...that's the message that rings in my heart today.

Love God, love others, and serve them both!
